This is my first entry for this final project. We had a tough time coming up with an idea but now we've come up with an idea that we've all agreed on so its time to start. We've divided tasks and I decided to take firebase integration as well as handling signin/signup. We're getting started pretty late and nothing can really happen until accounts can be created so my plan is to get that up and running as soon as possible.

plan: Use code from previous assignments to handle basic account creation. The only deviation I'm going to create is have signin/signup be on different pages.

That went painlessly. Haven't done any of the styling for the page but it's functional and now I need to wait for my teammates to come up with the other features so that I can integrate firebase with them.
